

A MONTHLY JOURNAL FOR CHINESE LEARNERS

WELCOME!

huān yíng

欢迎!

From the Editors:

On behalf of the Ray Chinese School staff and administration, we extend a warm welcome to all of our new and returning students and their families. Ray Chinese School now has two locations: Kennedy Jr. High and Still Jr. High, and on two days: Saturday and Sunday, for all of you to go to for learning Chinese.

Learning a foreign language like Chinese is like walking up stairs to the Willis Tower instead of riding the elevator. You may feel tired and frustrated sometimes, but when you finally reach the top, we are sure that you will feel rewarded by the excitement from views on the top. We hope all of you on a journey of learning Chinese will have:

1. As much fun as possible,
2. As fruitful as possible,
3. And climb as high as possible.

GO FOR IT! 加油! jiā yóu!

Q & A: Who is my teacher? What is the class symbol? What book should I have?

Lu Lee (Lee Lao Shi): (K=Kennedy S=Still)

CFPA /CFPP Beginner I 10-11:50/1-2:45 My first Chinese Words/Pinyin (K/S)

CFPB Beginner I 12-1:55 My first Chinese Words/Pinyin (K)

CFKP Beginner II 2:55-4:40 My First Chinese Words/Pinyin (S)

CFA 1st Grade 1:55-3:45 My first Chinese Reader Vol One (K)

Shaoping Zhang (Zhang Lao Shi):

CFKA Beginner II 10-11:50 My First Chinese Words/Pinyin (K)

Jie Cheng (Cheng Lao Shi):

CFAA 2nd Grade 10-11:50 Standard Chinese Book One and Cards (K)

CFAB 3rd Grade 12-1:55 Standard Chinese Book Two and Cards (K)

Xuejun Yang (Yang Lao Shi):

CF1Q 1st Grade 2:55-4:40 My first Chinese Reader Vol One (S)

CHIEF EDITOR

LU LEE

JOINT EFFORTS OF

JEAN CHENG

SHAOPING ZHANG

XUEJUN YANG

Please send your comments and questions to :

GRACELEE222@YAHOO.COM

Ray Chinese School
P.O.Box 4018
Naperville, IL 60567

630-401-9851
rcsonline@yahoo.com

What's in a Chinese Character

What's in a Chinese Character

每月一字

Word of the Month

dà

大 3 strokes

大人: adult

大学: university

The ideographic representation for “big” is simply a front elevation of a full-grown man with arms stretched out to the limit. What conveys the idea of “big” is not the size of the man but his demonstrative gesture.

practice Chinese Character (s) here:

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--

Calendar for RCS and Traditional Chinese Holidays

August 2011

Sun	M	T	W	T	F	Sat
1	1	2	3	4	5	6
7	8	9	10	11	12	13
14	15	16	17	18	19	20 1st school day @ Kennedy
21 1st school day @ Still	22	23	24	25	26	27
28.	29	30	31

September 2011

Sun	M	T	W	T	F	Sat
				1	2	3 No Chinese Class due to Labor Day
4 No Chinese Class due to Labor Day	5	6	7	8	9	10 Tuition Due Day/last chance to drop class
11 last chance to drop class	* 12	13	14	15	16	17
18	19	20	21	22	23	24 No Chinese class due to the facility is not available
25 No Chinese class due to the facility is not available	26	27	28	29	30	* Moon Festival 中秋中秋中秋