On Raising Children: Soft or Tough, Handle with Care

A US president once advocated a policy called "No child left behind". In a system of free competition, that is technically impossible. What a society should do is make sure those who want to advance are given fair opportunities. Just as there are children who are self-galvanizing and need no inculcation, there are those no amount of persuasion can affect. If they are determined to stay behind, either by choice or by influence, a teacher or parent can do little, especially when that kid reaches the legal age of an adult.

你 you

Written character: 7 strokes

你们: you (plural)

The classical character for “you”, an equal, was 爾, a pictograph of a balance loaded with ‘x’ equally on both sides and topped by a phonetic. By adding 人 (person) to 尔, man introduced the human element and came up with 你, a person who carries the same weight: you.
